

Mrs. William Alanson Bryan's Tea.

Mrs. William Alanson Bryan was hostess at one of the largest teas given this season, on Friday afternoon, and was to introduce Mrs. William L. Robinson of Hampton, Ia.; Mrs. Isaac Robinson of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. George Plimpton of Buffalo, N. Y., which, by the way, is the old home of Mrs. Bryan. Mrs. Bryan has a striking collection of old prints of Niagara that she started when a child, which has been added to as the years passed, until now it is superb. It was most thoroughly enjoyed by the friends invited. ### A Dress Rehearsal.

Mrs. Francis M. Swanzy, who is taking much interest in the "Peacock Ballet," was the hostess last evening at an informal supper that included all of those taking part and a few others who are deeply interested in the kindergarten benefit. A dress rehearsal was held after supper. The results were most encouraging. It surely will be worth the time and the trouble it has been to those who have arranged and are taking part in the two performances next week. Too much cannot be said in praise of Mr. L. Y. Corretters. Thursday evening the friends attending the performance are invited to buy their refreshments after the entertainment in the large tent that has been erected for that purpose next to the Opera House. The tickets have gone "with a bang," and a full house will greet each performance.

Mrs. C. F. Schmutzler's Card Afternoon.

Mrs. C. F. Schmutzler was hostess at a four-table bridge party on Friday afternoon of this week. Mrs. William Munter scored highest and the gift prize was a nest of Canton tea jars. Mrs. Renton Hind was given the second gift, which was a flower vase in the brown basket weave. The cut gift was given to Mrs. Kenneth Barnes and was a tea caddy. The house was decorated in basket of ferns and canna, which flower is now at its best. Mrs. Schmutzler guests were Mrs. Kenneth Barnes, Mrs. Edward Dekum, Miss Louise Lucas, Mrs. Renton Hind, Mrs. F. B. Barnes, Miss Ehrhorn, Miss Katherine Woodford, Mrs. F. Howland, Mrs. Antonio Perry, Mrs. F. E. Blake, Mrs. William Munter, Mrs. I. Edgar Robinson, Mrs. James H. Brewer, Mrs. Donald Ross and Mrs. Charles R. Frazier.

The Demetrio 'Cello Recital.

Honolulu people are looking forward with much pleasure to the 'cello recital to be given tonight in Charles R. Bishop hall, Punahou, by Mr. J. Demetrio, the 'cellist, who came here with the De Folco Opera Company. Mr. Demetrio is a real artist, and it is a great privilege to hear him in recital. He has played in several private homes in the past two weeks and with great success. He is to be accompanied by Mrs. L. Tenney Peck, with whose artistic work all Honoluluans are familiar. It is earnestly hoped that a full house will greet this master of the 'cello, whose work is so highly praised by those whose musical ability makes them authoritative judges. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

Miss Abbie Lucas a Kitchen Shower Hostess.

Saturday afternoon Miss Abbie Lucas was hostess at a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Virginia McCarthy, who is to be married later on in the year. The shower was very daintily arranged. The table center was ornamented with a basket filled with the pastel shades of African daisies and a large maline bow in the same shades tied the basket handle. Blossoms were scattered over the table; suspended from the ceiling was a pale-tinted Japanese open parasol; at the end of each parasol rib a useful kitchen article was tied with a bow of dainty maline and a few blooms of daisies. A jolly time was enjoyed and all showered good wishes on the bride-to-be. Miss Lucas' guests were Miss Virginia McCarthy, the guest of honor; Miss Eva McCriston, Miss Maria Madson, Miss Louise Lightfoot, Miss Florence Davis, Miss Marian Lightfoot, Miss Lillian Fennell, Miss Margaret McCarthy and Miss Violet Lucas.

Reception for Dr. and Mrs. Doremus Scudder.

Delightful in all its appointments, very largely attended, and a success both socially and artistically, was the reception which the Women's Society of Central Union church gave Thursday evening in the church parlors in compliment to Dr. and Mrs. Doremus Scudder. The rooms had been decorated to resemble a tropical garden, and it is a notable fact that the scores of palms, ferns and wonderfully colored crotons used all belong to the church greenhouse and only the cut flowers were grown away from the church premises. A croton garden was arranged at one end of the room, the platform being banked with dozens of these foliage plants, the gold and crimson and green of their mottled leaves blending into the colors of the stained glass windows above them. In front of this colorful background the receiving line stood, including Hon. and Mrs. Walter F. Frear, Dr. and Mrs. Doremus Scudder, Rev. and Mrs. John L. Scudder of Los Angeles, Mrs. George Abbott, an eastern friend of the guests of honor; the assistant pastor, Rev. A. A. Ebersole and Mrs. Ebersole; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Lowrey, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Hobdy, Miss Mary Kinney and Mrs. John Trenchholm Warren, president of the Women's Society. Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Andrews received and welcomed the guests at the door.

Magnificent kentia palms filled the corner back of the grand piano and broad-leaved foliage plants shading from light to dark green were used about the room. The color note of yellow was accentuated in this room by a great jar of beautiful golden lilies, and silver candelabra with yellow shades gave a homelike touch. Hanging fern baskets hung in the openings, and huge palms filled the corners of the hallway.

The refreshment tables were placed in the rear of the room of reception, and pink and blue formed an exquisite color scheme for this room. The pillars were wreathed with clinging vines, and the same graceful vine twined itself about the chandeliers and over the walls. A great pyramid arrangement of kentia palms in one corner gave a pleasing background for the serving tables, and palms and ferns placed about the sides broke the stiff lines of the room and gave a homelike touch. Graceful French baskets, brimming with pink begonias and maidenhair ferns, hung from the chandeliers and long vine tendrils hung gracefully from amid the waxen blossoms. Large pale blue baskets caught with bows of blue satin and filled with great branches of pink begonias were used upon the tables, while crystal candlesticks with pink shaded, tapered added a charming touch. Suggesting the nuptial idea and appropriate to St. Valentine's week was the ice cream, which was frozen with a pink heart in the center of each slice. Pink and white bonbons further carried out the dainty scheme of color. Mrs. Edwin Benner, Mrs. S. W. Smith, Mrs. A. G. Horn, Mrs. Ismay Stubbs, Mrs. S. De Freest and Mrs. E. T. Winant of the refreshment committee served ice cream, while at the punch table Miss Bella Fay and Miss Margaret Hawk served the first hour, relieved by Miss Elizabeth Eynon of Philadelphia, and Miss Laura Atherton, the second. Punch was served from huge blocks of ice hollowed out to form the bowls, the edges being piled with luscious clusters of purple grapes, while the grape leaves and tendrils were artistically used about the base of the ice blocks. This novel and charming arrangement was one of the prettiest features of the refreshment room.

A bevy of young girls in pretty evening frocks in pale pastel shades assisted in the refreshment room and at the entrance. Miss Nora Sturgeon and Miss Marjorie Peterson were in charge of these assistants, who included the Misses Violet Atherton, Margaret Thurston, Ruth Anderson, Hazel Hoffman, Dorothy Hawk, Margaret Scudder, Muriel Peterson, Pearl Sutherland, M. Sutherland. Refreshments were served throughout the evening, as at a private reception, and the program, which was an exceptionally good one arranged by Miss Vera Damon, was given at intervals during the evening. The program included the following numbers:

Songs—One Fleeting Hour (Lee), On the Road to Mandalay (Speaks), Mr. Andrus, Miss Knowles accompanying.

Chanson Provencale (Dell'Acque), My Laddie (Thayer), Mrs. Charles Hall, Miss Edith Gathfield accompanying.

Violin, two groups—Joy and Snow (Tirindelli), Rondino (Beethoven-Kreisler), Souvenir (Drda), Mr. Ideer, Miss Sutherland accompanying.

Piano solo—Waltz (Moskowsky).

Mr. Ray C. Allen.

Assisting around the rooms in conducting guests to the receiving line and introducing strangers, of whom there were present a large number, were Mrs. G. H. Gere and Mrs. G. W. David, chairman and vice-chairman, respectively, of the committee; Rev. and Mrs. Frank S. Scudder, cousins of the guests of honor; Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Williams, G. H. Gere, G. W. David, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Griffiths and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Haley, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton H. Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Forbes, Miss Martha Hitchcock, Mrs. R. G. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Webster, Mrs. Percy M. Pond. Several hundred guests called during the evening to greet the pastor and his bride, and the evening proved most enjoyable. Miss Damon was responsible for the excellent program. Miss Ruth Anderson and Mrs. J. T. Warren arranged the decorations. Mrs. W. F. Frear was chairman of the reception committee, while special credit is due Mrs. Edwin Benner and her committee for the charm and precision with which the refreshments were served.

Among special guests present were President Emeritus and Mrs. Taylor of Vassar College; their daughter, Miss Taylor; Dr. and Mrs. Mauck and Miss Mauck, prominent eastern people; Bishop and Mrs. Henry Bond Restarick of St. Andrew's Cathedral; Pastor and Mrs. David Cary Peters of the Christian church; Mrs. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer of Portland, and many others.

In compliment to her mother, Mrs. Russell Wilson, Mrs. Orville Pratt will preside at tea Wednesday afternoon at her home on California street. Bridge will be enjoyed for several hours.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Col. and Mrs. Daniel C. Jackling, Messrs. and Mesdames Walter S. Martin and J. Frank Judge were among the guests at a dinner given Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Mountford S. Wilson at their home in Burlingame.—San Francisco Chronicle, Feb. 16.
